Total Control Impossible

The key to the new United is a conclusion that became top level policy only last month and has never been publicly spelled out: That recent scientific ad-vances have made total control of fissionable material impossi-ble. This remains true even if inspectors were to be given free and spontaneous access to every square foot of the Soviet Union and the United States.

He Says McKay Would Intervene in Interest of Speed if He Were Not 'Secretary of Private Utilities.'

By RICHARD DUDMAN A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 -Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay was challenged today to support a federal dam at Hell's Canyon, on the ground that three small private dams will take longer to build.

Senator Wayne Morse (Dem.), Oregon, recalled McKay's earlier emphasis on critical power needs in the Pacific Northwest and said McKay now would intervene in the interests of speed, if he were not the 'Secretary of Pridemned McKay's conduct in the Hell's Canyon controversy, as well as the Federal Power Com-mission's decision July 27 grant-ing the Idaho Power Co. a 50-year license to build three low dams along the Hell's Canyon reach of the Snake river, be-tween Oregon and Idaho. Bill Introduced by Morse.

A bill introduced by Morse and backed by 30 other Senators authorize a single high federal dam at the Hell's Canyon

"Tried to Fool People."

"The FPC tried to fool the American people in its announcement of the decision giving away the finest remaining damsite on the North American continent to the Idaho Power Co."

He said the FPC decision obscured and buried the basic fact that the federal high dam would produce more power at less cost per unit that the private utility one, two or three dams.

"By resorting to technical terms and not explaining their use, the FPC obscured the fact that the three-dam plan would waste permanently the power potential of the Hell's Canyon stretch of the Snake river that only the high dam would develop to the fullest," he said.

Concern was expressed by the aldermen over the lagging tree trimming program, which had been all but abandoned from early in the World War II period until several years ago.

Schrader said regular employes of his department had found the job of trimming and caring for the city's 200.000 trees a formidable one. The number of four-man crews has been increased from six to 12 in the past two years, but they been increased from six to 12 in the past two years, but they still have made little progress. Mrs. Brungard said her re-quest for $120,000 for the trimming had been cut to $70. O00 this year by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. A large part of the tree trimming program will be carried out by contract trimmers and $30,000 in contracts will be opened for morrow, she said. Most of the

One of America's leading physicists recommended that everything published in the Soviet Union on the subject of nuclear energy be immediately translated and published in full and circulated to every university in the United States.

While Columbia university has undertaken some of this work it has not done the job systematically and has not blanketed the field.

The Atomic Energy Commission has articles translated in full, on request, after circulating summaries. But often the summaries don't show the full importance of Soviet scientific articles.

It is suggested that the work should be done by the National Science Foundation, a governmental agency set up by Congress three years ago and financed by public funds.

"And they should start immediately," a Nobel prize winner urged. "It is unforgivable that we should have waited this long to get started."

Political Machine.

The Reds and Socialists—their political machine entrenched here since 1945 and operating with military precision—literally carried the old, halt and blind to the 13 polling places.

To counteract the influx of crusaders from America, the Comsaders from America, the Comsaders from America, the Communists gave hundreds of sympathetic San Marino workers free trips home from Belgium, France, Switzerland and Italy. As a result, the Reds probably will control 37 seats in the 60-seat Legislature, the Grand Council. Previously they had held only 31. The council elects the two captain regents who head the government.

only 127 votes in the 1951 election.

The figures, with 1951 totals in parentheses, were: Commu-nists, 1669 (1305); Socialists, 1339 (985); Christian Democrats, 2011 (1917); pro-Western Social Democrats, 246 (248). Vote Closely Watched.

Vote Closely Watched.
Political observers had watched San Marino closely to see if the voting would reflect a decline in Communist strength reported recently elsewhere on the Italian peninsula.
The Red victory, however, was not expected to produce any startling change in the little republic. The leftists have tried to boom tourist trade and promote commerce. They have enacted no real Communist or Socialist legislation.

Even before the voting began the Christian Democrats charged that the Communist government had permitted false registration and otherwise rigged the voting.

The Communists and Socialists jubilantly celebrated with parades through the streets.

Local Ford Dealers Recall Complete Sell-Out During Similar Event Last Year

St. Louis Area Ford Dealers | Out-of-Town Orders recall that during last year's clean-up sale practically every new Ford in St. Louis sold before models arrived. Asked what the reason for this was, several Dealers agreed that the public knew they could save money during the year-end clean-up sale. "They know," said one of the dealers, 'that our main interest is clearing out our complete stocks . . . not in making a profit. Our arms twist very easily this time of year, and who wouldn't buy a brand-new years-ahead Ford at tremendous savings?"

Clean-Up Last year many Ford Dealers sold out all of their remaining stock before they recaived shipments of 1955 models. In fact, some dealers ordered cars from out-state to satisfy the demand. Here's the most modern automobile suspension system of them all! . . . Ford's Angle-Poised Ball-Joint front suspension. Ball - Joint was heralded by automotive experts last year for its corner-ing and handling ability. And this year ball-point suspension is tilted so springs may absorb shock from the front as well as up-and-down. This enables front wheels to glide over annoying little bumps much like the tip of a ski.

FORD LEADS ALL MAKES FOR NUMBER 1 SALES SPOT

Ford leads all makes of as tomobiles in the race for industry's Number One sales spot. Not only is Ford smashing their own production and sales records, but for the first five months of 1955, Ford topped all other cars in sales figures. Total new car registrations, as compiled by Automotive News, for the first five months of 1955 . . . plus 6 states for the sixth month . shows new car registrations as follows:

FORD 615.357 Car A 612,126 (Ford's nearest competitor is designated as Car A.)

Ford has built more V-8 Engines than all Other makers combined

In 1932 (23 years ago) Ford introduced the V-8 engine to the low-priced field. Since that time, Ford has built nearly 15,000,000 V-8 engines. Only recently have other makers in Ford's field adopted this type of engine. Yet it is interesting to note that the majority of costlier cars had joined Ford in offering V-8's some time ago. It is this unmatched experience that goes into every 1955 Ford Trigger-Torque V-8 engine.

It is reported that the Government maytighten credit restrictions in the near future. Interest rates on borrowed money may also be increased.

EARLY SHUT-DOWN FINDS DEALERS WITH BIG SELECTION OF COLORS & BODY STYLES

News of the last shipments of '55 Fords finds Ford Dealers of the St. Louis Area with a good selection of body styles and colors on hand. This large stock is not expected to last long, however, because of the added spurt of regular customers who wait until the end of the model-year to purchase their new car. Ford Dealers stress to their potential customers that the sooner they come in, the better the selection.

BUYERS PROM-ISED MANY ADVANTAGES DURING YEAR-END CLEAN-UP

TRADE-IN VALUES AT ALL TIME HIGH. People who are in the market for a new car will find many advantages in buying a '55 Ford during the year-end clean-up. Besides buying a car that is years ahead in styling and engineering, they will be able to buy at a much bigger savings. Each Ford Dealer's main objective is to sel out his present stock of '55 Fords as quickly as possible. He is far more interested in "clearing the decks" than in making a profit. Therefore, right now buyers will find the trade-in value of their car considerably higher than it was just a short time ago.

THE GREATEST OF THEM ALL!

This 1955 Ford Is the Greatest Seller of Them All. Even the famous "Model A" would envy this all-time sales record.

Auto Prices for 1956 Likely to be Higher

GUARANTEED ANNUAL WAGE AND INCREASED MATERIAL COSTS ARE LIKELY TO BOOST AUTO-MOBILE PRICES FOR 1956. Despite the auto industry's attempt to lower new car prices through increased production and efficiency methods, increased materia and labor costs are almost certain to raise 1956 Auto Prices. The uncertainty of 1956 Auto costs is likely to step up the buyers rush to grab the balance of the 1955 supply.

Horsecollars" Now Found on Automobiles!!

"HORSE-COLLAR" is one of the many strange names given to auto parts by workers in Ford's 16 As-sembly Plants. Engineers usually assign long, rather complicated names to the parts that go into cars in order to get positive description. But the men and women who put these parts together have invented their own shortcuts. Every Ford has a "horse-collar" . . . the name given to a Ushaped stamping which sup-ports the radiator.

FORD PLANTS MAKE READY FOR '56 MODELS

Ford Plants in Dearborn, Mich., and throughout the United States are making ready to start production on the 1956 Ford. Introduction date of the 1956 models has not been announced yet, but it is certain to be earlier than any year since World War II. In closing down production of '55 Models, Ford Motor Company officials in this area expressed belief that 1955 production would far ceed any year in Ford's 52-year history.

'55 FORD BOASTS FEATURES MANY 1956 CARS MAY NOT HAVE

The 1955 Ford is often referred to as being "years ahead" because of its many advanced engineering fea-tures. This year's Ford has some features that other cars may not offer for years to some such as (I) New 18mm Spark Plugs, (2) Angle poised Front Springs, (3) Astra-Dial Control Panel, (4) Ball-Joint Front Suspension, (5) Automatic Power Pilot, (6) Center-Fill Gas Tank, (7) Skylighted Trans-parent Roof, and many more. DE PAUL HOSPITAL STAFF CONGRATULATED BY MAYOR

The Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul received the congratulations of Mayor Raymond R. Tucker and Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter yesterday at a luncheon celebrating the silver anniversary of the DePaul Hospital

Archbishop Ritter, in an address to 150 members of the clergy and hospital staff in the auditorium of the new nurses' residence, recalled that medical history west of the Allegheny Mountains began when four Sisters came to St. Louis from Maryland in 1828 to found the Sisters' Hospital.

Maryland in 1828 to found the Sisters' Hospital.

The present DePaul Hospital, which contains 410 beds and has a staff of 600, was opened at its present site, 2415 North Kingshighway, in 1930. It replaced the Mullanphy Hospital, partly destroyed by the tornado of 1927.

D.A.V. OPENS MEETING, MAY OPPOSE HOOVER PROPOSALS

DES MOINES, Aug. 15 (AP) -The Disabled American Veterans national convention opened here today with indications it may consider fighting proposed restrictions in veterans' hospi-talization and disability allow-

Judge Alfred L. English of Shelbyville, Tenn., D.A.V. national commander, said officers of the organization are "quite concerned" about Hoover commission recommendations last February to close certain Veterans Administration hospitals and other federally operated medical facilities.

"We'll do everything we can to see to it that legislation curtailing the veterans hospitalization program will not pass through Congress." the national commander declared.

Brooklyn Soldier Admits He Slapped Two Fellow Prisoners and Hung One on a Peg.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (UP)—Sgt. James C. Gallagher denied on the witness stand today that he contributed to the deaths of three fellow American soldiers in a Korean prisoner of war camp in 1951. camp in 1951.

Testifying in his own defense the 23-year-old Brooklyn soldier admitted to a court-martial that he slapped two of the soldiers and hung one on a peg, but he said he did it for their own good. Two ot the men he is charged with murdering by throwing them from their prison camp shelter into the sub-zero cold have been identified as John William Jones of Detroit and Donald Thomas Baxter of Wau-kon, Ia. The third soldier, who Gallagher allegedly hung from a peg on the wall and then threw outside to freeze to death, never has been identified, but in his testimohy Gallagher said the man's name was "Dunn."

Serious and Tense.

Serious and Tense.

Gallagher, who laughed and joked with relatives when his court-martial began on Aug. 1. at Fort Jay on Governor's island, was serious and tense when he took the witness stand as the afternoon session began. In addition to unpremeditated murder he is charged with collaborating with his Chinese Communist captors, and faces a maximum sentence of life imprisonment if convicted on all charges.

Lt. Col. William B. Walsh, his

"I went back to the squad and Jones was lying there and I asked him why he didn't go out and clean himself up. He said he didn't want to and I couldn't make him. Then Rogers, the squad leader, said we should put him out and he helped me put him out."

He tessified he went out later and brought Jones back into the hut and while he was outside he saw Baxter lying in the center of the compound. Later, he

"What happened then?"
"I just put him down and lay down to try and get my nap. Then the Chinese doctor came in and said Baxter was dead. Then he said Jones was dead but Jones was still mumbling and everyone protested. So the doctor opened Jones' sleeping bag and checked him with a stethescope. Then he gave him a shot something under the heart. About an hour later Jones was

and the suspect.

One of the most serious aspects of the security systems, if the cases in this report are to accepted at face value, is be accepted at face value, is that the person on trial, as it were, is saddled with the burden of proving himself innocent—rather than the authorities being obligated to prove guilt, in keeping with the traditions of Anglo-Saxon law. This burden on the employe becomes all the more apparent as the cases. on the employe becomes all the more apparent, as the cases show, because he is defending himself against charges, the full nature of which and the substantiation thereof are frequently withheld from him.

The cases were drawn from among proceedings involving the government employes security program, industrial security pro-gram, port security program, atomic energy security program, military personnel security program and the international organizations employes loyalty program. It is estimated that 10,000,000 persons are covered by these programs.

A proceeding is initiated by formal written charges addressed to the employe, although in some cases he may have been interrogated informal the control of the con addressed to the employe, although in some cases he may have been interrogated informally by a security officer before the charges were formulated. Suspension from employment occurs either at, or shortly before the time the charges are received. The employe then has an opportunity to make a written response to the charges and unless the case is disposed of on the basis of that response, a hearing is scheduled.

The hearing board receives testimony from the employe and the witnesses whom he is able to produce. The government may produce witnesses in support of the charges. The boards have no power, however, to compel witnesses to appear even in those rare cases where their identity is revealed by the investigative agency.

The decision of the hearing board is only advisory to the head of the agency and it is the agency head's decision rather than the decision or opinion of the board which is communicated to the employes. The AEC, the military, port workers and industry employes have systems for centralized review. This is not true of government workers.

In about one-half of these cases studied, the employes were cleared and restored to their positions. Some cases took more

U.S. Has Become Champion of Peace Through Its Role at Atom Parley

THAT the conference on the peaceful use of the atom should have followed the ummit meeting was accidental ince the second conference had een arranged long in advance

The work is a detailed study of the processing of security cases involving 50 individuals accused of being security risks or worse. It is the first study of its kind.

Washington attorney and former law clerk for Associate Justice Stanley Reed of the United States Supreme Court, presents no definite conclusions, examination of the case histories indicates that the controversial circumstances which resulted in such highly publicized cases as resident Eisenhower gave the world at Geneva last month. The American performance here has been outstanding and it is perhaps not too much to say that the United States now stands before the world as a champion of peace through the atom.

Remarkable Reversal. Remarkable Reversal.
This represents a remarkable reversal of opinion from a year ago when in the aftermath of the H-bomb tests in the Pacific there was widespread fear of nuclear war with the United States as the aggressor. Partly this was the result of Commu-nist and neutralist propaganda but it was fed too by speeches of Secretary of State Dulles promising massive and instant retaliation at times and places of our own choosing, and ex-tolling the properties of "preise" atomic weapons.

Much of the credit for the reversal that is taking place goes to the President, who laid down the lines for what has happened in his speech on atom-ic power for peace before the Inited Nations in December 1953. That speech was extraordinarily farsighted, suggesting that the danger of "surprise ag-gression" with atomic weapons was a fearful threat to civilizaion regardless of the capability for devastating retaliation. The President's emphasis on the need to eliminate this danger was one of his chief contributions to the summit meeting.

Long Foreseen by President. The kind of exchange of ideas and knowledge that has been going on here was clearly fore

GENEVA, Aug. 15. A REGULAR avalanche of once hush-hush information about American nuclear pow-

Six important papers on Saturday and another six today gave the world a mass of practical detail about experimental power reactors, plans for several great reactors that are now being built or are only in the planning stage and the results reached by American scientists after thousands of hours of brainwork.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Children vs. Cigarettes

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The recent letter by Bernice DeRose suggested a "simple solution" for collecting money for schools by placing a tax on baby products instead of on cigarettes.

I am not opposed to smoking, and my only son is out of school, so my

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH Violence Comes Wholesale

Nobody can persuade us that Edgar Allan Poe's "Murders in the Rue Morgue," the exploits of Sherlock Holmes, G. K. Chesterton's stories of Father Brown, Agatha Christie and other gems of detective lore are not good reading, and almost as interesting if competently reworked for radio and television. All of them deal with crime and some are tinged with blood. But we doubt that any psychiatrist has raised a warning hand against them. Less satisfying, however, is the more recent 'private eye" literature, especially that written directly for radio and TV. Here emphasis on violence crowds out most of the other elements of a good story. The general lack of relevance to reality—even if the cops do catch the crooks in the end—also is disturbing. And why are there so many of these programs?

What has been vaguely troublesome becomes almost alarming when one glances at statistics prepared by Dallas W. Smythe of the University of Illinois for the Fund for Adult Education. His facts on violence on the air are part of a broader analysis of the content of TV programs. That, too, is not very flattering. But here we will stick to the violence

In one week of New York TV entertainment in 1953, for example, 3421 acts and threats of violence were observed. That was 6.2 acts or threats per hour, or 15 per cent more than in 1952. Only one-sixth of these, incidentally, were committed in the name of the law. During the hours when children are supposed to see most of their TV, the average went up to 9.6 acts or threats per hour. Meaty fare for the young. Similar studies in New Haven, Los Angeles and elsewhere showed similar results. So one may probably assume that this is an approximately fair sample across the country.

We wonder, however, whether the real complaint should be that there is so much blood or so much monotony. Perhaps it is possible to ac quire a sort of habit of seeing six-shooters and blunt instruments in use.

Or a lot of people may turn off the switch for the week long before they come to act or threat of violence No. 3421. Not everybody has lost the capacity for boredom. Easy as it may be for the producers to run through a virtually standardized formula, are they really sure how many are still watching?

Must the first-class TV features-there is not enough time left for them to be anything but too few in number-have this dreary background? Is the American public so addicted to the tough guy and his victims? Maybe it would even prefer more soap operas or give-aways.

But whether or not people are still looking and listening-and the program directors can say that the heavy run of crime and violence reflects popular interests and tastes-have not radio and television a responsibility to society itself? If the so-called comic book industry is now under obligation to clean itself up, do not radio and TV need to take a long, serious, honest look at the Smythe report for the Fund for Adult Education?

If this report is in error let the networks show where. If not then substantial improvement in the character of programs in many communities is in order.

Ouick Change on the FTC

The heavy turnover in members of the independent and regulatory federal agencies is emphasized by the resignation of Edward F. Howrey from the Federal Trade Commission and the appointment of former Gov. Sigurd Anderson of South Dakota to succeed him.

Hardly more than two years ago Mr. Howrey, an Eisenhower appointee, was going on the FTC under much criticism because he had pleaded for large clients before it. Then he was elevated to the chairmanship and it looked as if he would do a lot to reshape its regulations over the next seven years. Now he has resigned, a replacement has been chosen and former Congressman John W. Wynne of Iowa has been designated as Undoubtedly it is a disappointment to President Eisenhower that so many changes have occurred already in the ranks of his own appointees. In view of the length of time the Republican party was out of power the wonder is that appointments in Washington are not of more lasting interest to some of the business men and others who receive them.

The $4,000,000 Fly

It looks like a house fly. It's an entirely new species, though, with more bristles. Lydella griesescens by name. It is being used in an almost Rube-Goldberglike adaptation of nature to the purpose of getting rld of the corn borer, a pest of the cornfield. The esteemed Daily Plains man of Huron, S.D., gets the credit for giving it that swell name of "the $4,000,000 fly

South Dakota lost an estimated $20,000,000 to the corn borer last year, and figures this flossy fly can control borers at least 20 per cent thus saving $4,000,000. The State College has accordingly loosed numbers of Lydella g. upon the

Here the Goldbergian sequence of events is supposed to set in. The female of the species posits maggots at the entrance of the tunnel of the corn borer. The maggots pursue the borer through the tunnel and eat it. The Plainsman says Lydella won't launch this attack against anything else, "it just has a grudge against the corn borer and the stalk borer."

Whether or not all this will disturb the balance of nature will remain to be seen, the Plainsman concludes on a note of scholarly open-mindedness. That part of the balance of nature that consists of us will have to sit and wait and see.

Synthetic Storm

The storm that has been swirling around the new nonpolitical St. Louis County Police Department seems to be more synthetic than real. That is the interpretation most county residents will put on the affair, pending concrete evidence to

For one thing, the department's difficulties (if they may be called that) have been brewed in part from the statements of disgruntled ex-members of the force who have a yearning for the good old days. Those were the days when law enforcement in the county was in the hands of the politics-ridden sheriff's office and his politically-appointed deputies.

Another phase of this artificial storm seems to be the attitude of some municipal police chiefs. They see the new department as "too military," too this, too that. In general these charges merely reflect the long-standing prejudice of many municipal police chiefs against the county

Since the new department is authorized to contract with municipalities for police services, many of the chiefs see it as a threat to their own vested interests. It may be, too. For if Superintendent DuBois can do a better job and more economical job than a municipal police force, there is not much reason for taxpayers to put up with second-rate service. This might be as good a time as any for Supervisor Matthews to call for a moratorium on selfish criticism of the new department. After all, the force was created by the people because they were sick and tired of law enforcement as it existed under Sheriff Mosley.

Rhee Continues His Incendiary Talk The situation in Korea remains dangerous. After Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson had induced Syngman Rhee to withdraw his demand that the international truce teams get out of Korea by last Saturday midnight, the fiery South Korean president has renewed his ultimatum.

Speaking before 50,000 people in Seoul at the tenth anniversary of Korea's liberation from Japan, the 80-year-old South Korean leader declared: "We must carry on our determination to oust the foreign spies until we succeed."

Let everyone hope that this remark is not taken as the incitement to trigger more trouble at the army compound in Pusan which contains the members of the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission team. If it does, a situation that had begun to improve could take a sudden turn for the worse.

The last thing that should occur in South Korea is violence between the South Koreans and the United States forces there. Tragedy enough in itself, fighting between these two groups of Korean war allies might cause the Communists, north of the truce line, to think the time was ripe for them to move south again.

The able Mr. Robertson apparently still has work to do if peace is to be maintained in Korea.

On Reorganizing FHA

Opinions vary as to just what the Hoover Commission intended when it proposed that the Federal Housing Administration be reorganized. One interpretation is that the Commission had in mind reorganizing FHA right out of its present status as a Government agency, and making it a privately owned corporation.

Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, noting this interpretation though not himself adopting it, has taken strong exception to any such reorganization. Addressing the United States Chamber of Commerce, he rightly argued that fragmentation of the FHA would not get the Government out of private business, but "get the Government out of Government."

In its 20 years of existence the FHA, despite some derelictions from time to time, has proved its usefulness to the nation and the home building industry. The principle of mortgage insurance which it established has helped to lower interest rates and other costs of housing credit so that home ownership has been opened to hundreds of thousands of families that might otherwise have remained tenants.

Mr. Cole sees FHA as one of the foundations of the Government's housing and urban renewal programs. As he suggests, since those programs are proper concerns of Government it is surely proper that FHA should be a government agency.

The National Association of Home Builders, speaking through its president, Earl W. Smith, has also come to the defense of FHA, which it calls "an insurance fund so affected with the public interest as to require governmental control." By pooling mortgage risks on a scale which Mr. Smith considers "beyond attainment by private lenders," FHA has helped to develop credit instruments which, in his words, "have made possible today's modern, large-scale home building industry."

Since large scale home building is a major ingredient in a large-scale national economy, we should go slowly indeed in any FHA reorganization that might impair its basic functions

An Absurd Accomplishment

One of the absurd accomplishments of our industrial security system is that it prevents us from making full use of the man who pioneered the first attempt to shoot earth satellites into space. Although Dr. Fritz Zwicky was one of the leaders in a group of scientists who early in World War II helped in many hush-hush rocket developments, he is now denied contact with classified projects. The difficulty grows out of a technicality. Dr. Zwicky is a Swiss citizen. Our security regulations require that any immigrant alien must formally declare his intent to become a citizen of the United States before he can obtain personal security clearance. Dr. Zwicky, however, prefers to remain a citizen of Switzerland, principally because he is under fewer international travel restrictions as a Swiss than he would be

Dr. Zwicky is an avowed anti-Communist. Ten years ago he was the late Gen. H. H. Arnold's personal choice for the Air Force scientific board that interviewed the top German scientists, many of whom now are American citizens and allowed close to projects from which Dr. Zwicky is barred. Surely we ought to think twice before foreclosing the opportunity to make use of the intellectual capacity of this scientist. A change in regulations is in order.

Contributed by Dwight Davis

A native St. Louisan, the late Dwight F. Davis, in 1900 conceived the idea of offering in international competition the massive silver tennis trophy that bears his name. As lawn tennis was played then, it was a game in which sportsman ship was perhaps as important as victory, and the Davis Cup competition was looked upon as a device both to stimulate international play and bring together high type men from throughout Young Davis, a first-class player in his own right-he was a member of the first two United States Davis Cup teams-later went on to be Secretary of War in the Coolidge Administration and Governor-General of the Philippines. In both posts he brought reflected glory to St. Louis. His Davis Cup, however, became the world's premier tennis trophy, and over the years men of many nations have fought fiercely for the honor of possessing it for their country. The United States, which is preparing to defend the cup against the winner of interzone finals between Australia and Italy, won it in the land down under last December.

But what this generation of St. Louisans may not remember about Dwight Davis is that he was one of the principal founders of the city's municipal sports system. He was appointed Park Commissioner by Mayor Kreismann in 1911 and served five years in the post. His slogan, "Let's grow men, rather than grass in our public parks, spelled out a philosophy that he implemented with all the resources of his office. International tennis owes much to Dwight Davis, all right, but so do the young men and women who use the city's recreation facilities.

Lessons for the President

The Mirror Public Opinion Dixon-Yates and Talbott-cases raise question of what Mr. Eisenhower is learning about public office, writer says; states that Administration's 'cloud of moral superiority' screens doctored records and manipulations behind President's back.

T.R.B. in the New Republic

Anyone who will compare what Ike was telling the press about Dixon-Yates and what was actually happening will conclude that this is the first clear-cut example in this Administration of what everybody feared—an amiable, attractive President being kept (propent) as tive President being kept ignorant un a big matter by those around him. Dixon-Yates story is important, really from that aspect. Last year on Aug. 17, for example, Ike told the press with weary patience that they could get the "complete record"

from the Budget Bureau and Atomic Energy Commission. "It is all yours," he said. Instead, these agencies are now seen to have held back crucial facts— facts which make it were a grandiose Wall Street scheme to wreck not mere-ly TVA but the whole public-resource public-resource-development program. On June 29 of this year ise again told the press that the banker-business man Adolphe Wenzell "was never called in or asked a single thing about the Dixon-Yates contract." This was untrue: Ike didn't know it, but the manipulation was going on behind his back. In a third instance lke told the press, ith restrained irritation, that it would et "every single document that was ertinent to this thing." But now it is isclosed. Ike's subordinates put out a stally incomplete.

At a later press conference, July 27, Ike, his face furiously pink, flared up.

fatally incomplete and doctored record

Pressed by reporters on inconsistencies he angrily declared, "I don't intend to comment on any more at all. . . . I don't know exactly such details as that. How can I be expected to know? I never heard of it."

So there it is, Ike "never heard of it." In summary the President—a high-minded, well-meaning ex-soldier— heartily dislikes public ownership and has surrounded himself with wealthy business-men-bankers who share his views. They know he will approve their general, idealized objectives, and they keep details of their little tricks to them-selves. They operate in a cloud of moral selves. They operate in a cloud of moral superiority.

This is a situation made to order for skulduggery. The Dixon-Yates contract is now cancelled, but Senator Kefauver is only just bringing out the bigger story of what really happened and what was involved. The observer keeps asking himself: Can Ike learn from this expe-

Can Ike learn from the Talbott affair? What startled Washington politicians, Democrats and Republicans alike, was the delay in Talbott's resignation. But is not that only natural in an Adminis-tration which regards its every act as automatically virtuous?

Politicians know what can, and cannot, be done in public life. Business men like Talbott take a long time catching on. Talbott is the bridge-playing friend of Ike, who helped run G.O.P. fundraising drives for Dewey and then Eisenhower. Again one asks, Can Ike learn? What went through his mind as he read the Talbott record on his Gettysburg farm?

There was another great general who

There was another great general who became President once; he is buried on Riverside drive and his motives, too, were honorable.

Prejudice Takes No Vacation

From The St. Louis Register, Official Newspaper of the Catholic Archdiocese of St. Louis

Summer heat sucks many strange creatures from the earth and the shadows, and not the least of these is the anti-Semitic resort keeper.

Within the past weeks we have seen some of the promotion literature that the Missouri resort hotels and lodges send out—scenes of cold-stream fishing, mouth-watering eating, and dreamy afternoon naps under leafy trees.

Invariably, in every handful of bro-chures that we inspected one or two resorts would advertise that they "catered to Gentiles only" or "have a restricted clientele."

The fact that only a small number of the pleasure spots took the trouble to boast of their bigotry may seem an encouraging sign to some. We can't encouraging sign to some. We can't help feeling, however, that the percentage is still too high. Such intolerance eats at the spirit of democratic living, and is certainly un-Christian.

We do not deny the right of these resort people to exclude whomever they want from their grounds. We do not deny that right, but common sense and basic humanitarianism certainly should discourage their exercise of that

The use of race as a standard of ac-

The use of race as a standard of acceptability for commercial dealings is no more logical when directed against the Jewish people than it is when directed against the Polish, Irish, or Italians. Whoever thinks that he can create a "Christian atmosphere" simply by eliminating all traces of Jewish influence is woefully mistaken.

What renders this attitude so remarkably inconsistent is the reminder that Christ Himself was a Jew. How can one obtain a Christian world if it is not also to some extent a Jewish one?

And those who would argue that, after all, the Jews killed Christ, forget one essential point. Christ was crucified for our sins, and we all must share in the shame—Gentile as well as Jew.

Berea's Light in the Hills BEREA'S FIRST CENTURY. 1855-1955, by Elisabeth S. Pack. (University of Kentucky Press, Lexington, Ky., 217 pgs., $3.)

Ky. 217 pgs. 33.)

The story of Berea, more adequate than anything previously published, is told by a woman who is peculiarly qualified, for Elisabeth Peck taught there for 41 years as head of the history and political science department and when she retired in 1948 she became college historian. During her tenure as teacher she visited in most of the Kentucky mountain counties, from which come most of the boys and girls that the college serves, and gained a thorough and sympathetic understanding of them.

The book makes clear, what is not generally known to the present genera-tion, that in its earlier years the college was an outstanding example of nonsegregation. When it was founded, in fact, it was dedicated to emancipation of the Negroes, and after the Civil War it was bi-racial, with Negro students predominating. It was only when, in 1904,
Negroes were ex-

Negroes, although there is no discrimination against Elisabeth S. Peck them.

Consistently Berea has maintained its distinctive features adapted to the recommendation of the second sec res, adapted to the needs of mountain boys and girls, with daring and un-orthodox approaches to learning, includorthodox approaches to learning, including elementary and secondary preparation for those who come with little previous education, its student industries (at which there is employment for at least 10 hours a week), and its free tuition; but in spite of these different characteristics it holds an undisputed place as a first-class college.

"The American century," we bravely alled it before the neuroses induced by world leadership caused us to have loubts about ourselves. Professor Link, doubts about ourselves, Professor Link, however, has no such misgivings, and his history of the United States in the twentieth century is forthrightly angled to the point of view expressed in the title. The period covered is from 1897 to the election of Eisenhower in 1952, and what a rousing, turbulent tale it is! The author does much more than merely to the election of Eisenhower in 1952, and what a rousing, turbulent tale it is! The author does much more than merely record great political events: this is also a history of what the people did, the books they read, the music they listened to and the way they spent their money. Some of the most interesting chapters in the book, in fact, are those in which the arts and philosophy are considered.

Professor Link is none too sanguine about the current state of our literature, but thinks we are doing well with music. My own feeling is exactly the opposite, but a mere difference of opinion of this kind does not detract in the slightest from this entertaining conspectus—one of the worthiest single-volume histories of modern America now available.

In the eighth inning of a thrilling contest won by his Cardinals in the tenth, 5 to 4, and climaxing a tense series of three one-run ball games with Cincinnati, Walker found himself and his best pitcher of recent starts, Tom Poholsky, looking down the menacing barrel of a remarkable bat.

It's not quite the more than 40 ounces Babe Ruth used to handle as easily as a broomstick in a back-alley game of bottle caps, but Ted Kluszewski wields with light-as-a-feather ease a big bludgeon that two innings earlier had clubbed Poholsky for his fortieth home run.

In that crisis, as suggested earlier, the manager might have appealed for a doctor, specifically Dr. Hubert (Shucks) Pruett, who as a pint-sized portsider fresh out of Missouri U. more than 30 years ago fooled the Babe time and again with a Babe time and again with a fadeaway. The good medico, it might be insisted, hasn't pitched in a long time, but, if you'll par-don the observation, many of stroke of strategy had singed his eyebrows.

It really was a smart move, shifting Poholsky to left field in Rip Repulski's position and bringing-Luis Arroyo to the mound to face Kluzewski. As a result, Poholsky still would be available to pursue his bid for victory.

Klu Crosses Up The Hat.

It would have been a heckuva lot smarter move, though, if someone had told big Klu (1) just how brainy the strategy was, '(2) reminded him that left-handed hitters weren't supposed to hit southpaws or (3), preferably, told the good-natured monster a sports writers went for the record ord books.

By coincidence, it was discovered, Ruth also hit his forty-first homer here in 1927, the year he set the record with 60, and it came in the eighth inning, too, off Ernie Nevers, an all-time football star and a part-time pitcher. For a guy who insisted he wasn't a home-run hitter, Kluszewski certainly was doing all right—10 games and 13 days ahead of Ruth's pace—because the Babe didn't get No. 41 here until Aug. 27.

Big Klu still would have to go hitters, striking out 13 Winthrop.

Big Klu Blasts Ball Out of Busch Stadium for Home Run Lead

TED KLUSZEWSKI, swinging in the sixth inning of the Cardinals-Cincinnati Sunday game at Busch Stadium, is caught by the camera as mashes a Tom Poholsky pitch out of the park for his fortieth home run. He duplicated the feat in the eighth inning, off Pitcher Luis Arroyo, tying the score at 4-4. In the sequence of photos above, the Redlegs' slugger focuses on the ball as it nears the plate; in center picture his huge arm muscles bulge as he switches on the power; at right he looks up to watch the flight of the ball as it sails gracefully toward the right field pavilion roof. Kluszewski now leads Chicago's Ernie Banks by two and Brooklyn's Duke Snider by three in the race to reach 60, and a tie with Babe Ruth's major league record established in 1927.

White Sox, One Game Behind, Face 'Softer' Schedule in Stretch

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)-The Chicago White Sox, despite their third-place position, appeared today to be in the most enviable spot among the four top contenders for the American League pennant.

Cleveland's inability to pull the Tigers in two years. Rivera away from the field, together with Chicago's apparent easy schedule ahead as compared to those of the Indians, New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox, give the White Sox a seemingly big advantage.

The White Sox got a lift yesterday when they defeated Detroit 5-4 while the lowly Kansas City Athletics snapped Cleveland's six-game winning streak with a 7-3 triumph. Although they slipped to third place because the Yankees took two from Baltimore, the White Sox cut Cleveland's first-place margin to one game.

Only three and a half games only three and a half games separated the first four teams after Sunday's play as the fourth place Red Sox also won two, defeating Washington 9-6 and 2-1. The Yankees climbed into second place, a half game behind the Indians by mauling the Orioles 7-2 and 20-6.

Willie Jones's tenth-inning single scored Richie Ashburn

The National League featured a thrilling pitching duel between his nineteenth win against nine Robin Roberts and Don Newcombe, the circuit's two top larlers. Victory No. 19 was at stake for both righthanders as Roberts won 3-2 in 10 innings to give Philadelphia a split in the doubleheader with Brooklyn. The Dodgers won the second 5-4 in 13 innings.

Runner-up Milwaukee shaded with the run that gave Roberts his neteeth win against nine defeats and Newcombe his third loss compared to 18 triumphs. Carl Furillo smashed two home runs in the second game, then singled in the winning Dodger run in the thirteenth off loser by Miller.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli gistered his tenth victory with a six-hitter and Righthander Jim

Cowboy Kurtz of Overland Rides High in Oklahoma Legion Play

Grand-Slam Aids in Rout Of Wichita

By John J. Archibald Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff ENID. Okla., Aug. 15—Even though Roland Kurtz had never before set foot on Oklahoma soil, anyone could see that this was home for Overland's cow-boy shortstop. Roland, a leanwas nome for Overlands cow-boy shortstop. Roland, a lean-faced, quiet type who can whip a bat faster than any quick-drawing badman of old, had him-self a rodeo yesterday as he helped Overland to a 14-2 vic-tory over Wichita, Kan. in the opener of the American Legion "Tonight Thoman-Boothe of Overland will meet Oklahoma City, which defeated State Cenday, the Financial Times index dropping 1.5 points to 2042.

DuPont dropped 6½ points right after directors declared a dividend of $1.50 as compared with $1.25 paid in the two previous quarters. The stock later recovered a portion of its externe loss.

A slightly higher start in the market soon gave way to a mixed condition and that gradu-ally changed to a lower trend as session wore on.

Aircrafts were higher persist-ently with North American Aviation standing ahead strongly. Steels held to small minus signs. Some stores and farm implements were quietly and modestly higher.

The market since early July has been going through a re-action phase. In the process, a lot of caution has built up in Wall street. The question is whether the market will complete the cycle with prices more or less in the present range or whese there will be a burst of climactic selling that will take everything down to a hard bot-tom before a recovery sets in with vigor.

SECOND QUARTER OUTPUT, INCOME HIT NEW HIGHS

Biggest Spending Spree in U.S. History Also Put Debts at Record Level.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (UP) -United States production and income soared to new highs in the second quarter of this year, the Commerce Department reported yesterday. But Americans also piled up record debts cans also piled up record debts in the biggest spending spree in history.

Figures for the second three-month period of 1955 exceeded expectations in major economic categories. They topped by sizable margins the first quarter statistics.

But the prosperity indicators also showed some signs that Americans may be depending too heavily on credit to obtain the things they want, and that business may be overextending its inventories. President Eisenhower and Secretary of Commerce Weeks have shown recent concern over "excessive credit"

Government Reforms Proposed by France Refused by Backers of Deposed Sultan.

RABAT, French Morocco, Aug. 15 (AP)—French Morocco's nationalist leaders today rejected France's new plan to start its troubled North African protectorate toward self-government under Sultan Mohammed Moulay Ben Arafa.

The Istiqual (Independence) party issued a statement declaring the plan "can only be rejected by the Moroccan people since it., is based on the illegitimate situation arising from

Ing to placate his supporters without bringing him back. The French plan also received a turndown from the Democratic Independence party. The nationalists are planning to demonstrate next Saturday on the anniversary of Ben Youssefs ouster. Fearing widespread violence then, the French have been rushing their plan for government reform in the hope of forestalling the demonstrations. Resident General Gilbert Grandval placed France's latest scheme to end the Moroccan crisis before Ben Arafa yesterday. The plan has not been made public, but it is understood the French asked the aged Sultan to choose a widely representative national government including less extreme nationalists.

SAME OLD STORY FOR PRESIDENT

President Eisenhower, no stranger to cameras or the difficulties that beset a photographer, waits for young camera fan to get into action outside the home of Mrs. John S. Do ud, the President's mother-in-law, at Denver last night. The boy, Carey Modessit, was one of a large number of neighbors who turned out to greet Mr. Eisenhower as he arrived for a prolonged working vacation. He had trouble with the camera so the President waited while adjustments were made and the boy got his prized picture.

'Margaret Determined To Marry Townsend'

By Ernie Hill

LONDON, Aug. 15. DRINCESS MARGARET will be 25 years old on Sunday and then will be free to renounce her status as No. 3 in line for the throne and marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend, 40.

PRINCESS MARGARET

That she is determined to do this, there can be little That doubt. Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of Bradford and Church of England hierarchy are bitterly opposed is also well known. The Church is dead set against divorced persons remarrying, and

The current story in Mayfair has it that Margaret has been talking nightly on a private line to Townsend in Brussels where he is British air attache. It

Two years ago a close friend of Townsend's assured Two years ago a close friend of Townsend's assured me that there would be a wedding within one year. That was the deal Buckingham Palace offered Margaret. Let the whole matter rest a year while Townsend was in "exile" in Belgium. If ardor did not cool after a year, something would be done. Now it has been two years and Margaret is as determined as ever. The extra year was added so she could proceed under the 1772 provinces. under the 1772 marriage act. Now the time for deci-

MAYFAIR CYNICS say it has been no great prob-lem for Margaret to maintain her resolve while wait-ing. She has gone out with dozens of young men, but none of them stack up with the handsome, suave and intelligent Townsend. He was a flying ace in the Battle of Britain and an equerry on King George VI's

There is an increasing number of stories about her sarcasm, arrogance and insistence on being shown more than an ordinary respect for her position by even constant companions. Many who have been considered her suitors have realized that it is Townsend sidered her suitors have realized that it is Townsend or nothing for her and have married other young ladies. Among them are the Earl of Dalkeith, the Marquess of Blandford, Lord Ogilvy and Mark Bonham Carter.

Still single in her crowd are Billy Wallace, Peter Ward, Colin Tenant and Lord Porchester. The 34-year-old Earl of Wilton has been a recent addition. There is some evidence that Billy Wallace is her best friend. He has stayed at Balmoral Castle and she has visited his mother, Mrs. Herbert Agar, now the wife of the American historian.

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip apparently consider Lord Porchester. 31, as the most eligible. Porchy, as he is called, is the son of the Earl of Carnarvon. Porchy is an amateur actor, a thoroughbred owner and helps his father run their estate. As a race horse owner, he and the Queen talk the same language. He has on several occasions made up the fourth in parties with the Queen, Philip and Margaret.

ROYALTY MARRIES YOUNG. Queen Elizabeth was 21. Time is running out for Margaret. Should she choose to become an old maid, her life would be most unsatisfactory since she lives a "gold fish bowl"

Margaret will have her birthday party at Balmoral Castle in the north of Scotland during the coming weekend. Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip will be there. So will the Queen Mother, Prince Charles and Princess Anne. Will the Queen announce that Margaret has made a decision to marry Townsend?

Will Townsend himself show up at Balmoral?
Or will the royal romance suffer more months of wind or in a dusty or smoky place. When it comes to make-up nothing can so ennance your eyes as a frame. Bring out your thin, light brows by using a brown brow pencil. Apply this with light feathery strokes and then blend gently with your fingertip. This alone will make a big difference in the way you look. The use of mascara will make your lashes appear much longer than they are, and thicker also. Many women make the mistake of getting their mascara brush too wet.

These are questions that the British public will ask this week as attention is centered on Balmoral and the little Princess who always is pictured walking a few paces behind her sister the Queen.

* * * THE MASCARA AND EYEBROW PENCIL will make your eyes look larger. If you have small eyes you should place rouge closer to your eyes than usual. Also, use a light lipstick and use it subtly. If you emphasize your mouth it will make your eyes appear smaller. Many women massage vaseline into the lids. This does seem to increase the length of the lashes.

The only eye exercise I have are for resting the eyes. Here is one: Look at the end of your finger. Quickly look out of the window at the far horizon. Continue looking from one to the other.

A Husband Is Still His Mother's Son

Wife Should Remember That 'Silver Cord' Is Not Cut Overnight

By Lee Graham Second chapter of a series that tries to solve one of the toughest problems of a woman's married life—getting along with her mother-in-law. From the book, "If, You Are a Woman," published by Thomas Y. Crowell Co.

THORNY as the relationship may be between mother-in-law and daughter-in-law, the man at the top of this triangle has moments of despair, too. He has to play two parts, each opposite to the other. He often functions under a greater strain than either his wife or mother realizes.

Since his mother has possessed him longer and takes him more for granted, she is less inclined to be conciliatory about his dual role as son and husband. His wife, however, is younger and more flexible in her thinking. It is up to her, then, to understand the ramifications of his widened sphere of behavior,

If his mother is too rigid to secont him as another woman's accept him as another woman's husband, his wife should at least husband, his wife should at least remember that he is still an-other woman's son. Once a wife is able to absorb this concept of the man she loves, she will be less wounded by some of the events that crop up.

Like most wives, you may sometimes be puzzled and insometimes be puzzled and injured by things your husband says and does in reference to his mother. You have twinges of doubt about his love for you and his desire to defend you. He seems to put her first. And the year he confider in hier and the way he confides in her and asks her for advice on numerous occasions makes you feel like occasions makes you feel like an outsider. If this happens frequently, you have a right to object. The you have a right to object. The marriage ceremony is distinct in its admonition to both bride and groom to forsake all others. Although you can't pry him from his mother immediately if he has been quite attached to her, you should be able to observe a mounting self-assertiveness and independence in his filial attitude. But the conversion may be very slow.

The "silver cord," that mighty emotional tie which binds son to mother, is not cut overnight.
The swiftness with which it is severed depends upon the type of mother a man has. There are two types who make it especially difficult. They are responsible for the coining of the word "momism."

THERE WAS NO FINER MOTHER IN THE WORLD, EVERYBODY SAID—EXCEPT HER SON'S WIFE

One is the dominating, "battle-ax" type. The word that best describes her is "power." She is eager for a child, particularly a son, through whom she can express her longing for success and prestige. and prestige.

and prestige.

If she never had the "right" friends, she, at least, wants him to. She also has plans for his education at the "right" school and for his marriage to the "right" girl. The only trouble when it comes to marriage, however, is that she considers him such a paragon (could a child born of her be less than perfect?) that no girl is ever good fect?) that no girl is ever good enough.

The other and more insidious type of mother-in-law is sweet, over-protective, self-sacrificing. Andy Olson had this kind of mother to contend with. Her continual anxiety, constant fuss-ing, and slavish devotion were more to be resisted than ap-presiated.

She called him twice a day at his office, inquiring about his health and asking him what he had for dinner the night before. She was forever cautioning him not to work too hard. She insisted upon going shopping with him when he bought a new suit. No finer mother in the world everybody said. Everybody except his wife!

Having this type of mother crippled Andy considerably in his groping toward emotional maturity. At 34, he still had not acquired the strength necessary for a sturdy relation with any woman but his mother.

The surprising thing is that Andy ever mustered up enough courage to get married. But having accomplished that, he didn't have the courage to give Lynn, his wife, first place. She ran a sorry second to his mother at

S PECULATION at the bridge table is no different than any other sort of speculation—the possible profit must be worth the risk. Thus, there are occasions when it is quite reasonable to put out one's neck, but to do this without even the hope to do this without even the hope of commensurate gain is just plain silly. Consider South's bidding behavior in the follow-cleared, East-West had eight tricks and 1100 points.

The South player who incurred this horrifying penalty was not a dud—on the contrary, he has something of a reputation. This of course is hard to believe, but he is actually a Life Master (the highest rating under the master-point system maintained by the American Contract Bridge League, which conducts 99 per cent of all American tournaments). If this sort of player can be guilty of such "indiscretions" to put it mildly, then what can we expect from the poor maligned "social" player? player?

It is true that South picked up a completely worthless dummy, but that did not mitigate his crime. What could he logically erime. What could be logically expect to find opposite him, with West opening the bidding, North passing and East showing the values for a response at the two-level? Certainly not much.

But South's fundamental error lay in his inconsistency. Obvi-ously he considered his hand too weak for an opening bid— which it was, academically—but not too weak for three-level not too weak for three-level competition against opponents who had clearly announced possession of almost all, if not all, the missing cards. This sort of performance is simply ridiculous. South's hand was not freakish, and so, if he didn't have a one-bid he didn't have a secondary three-bid. From all indications it looks like the Board of Education's summer playground program will be in business as long as kids like fun, especially if the adults get into the spirit of

and sister-in-law, MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM D. ORTH-WEIN III (Mary Ann Petersen), were in town last week with a typical case of the "hurricane jitters." Unaware of the storm's danger, they left the four Bates children and four Orthwein children with nurses at Narragansett and came to New York early Monday. By the time that they checked in at the Pierre the alert was on and they spent much of their four days here listening for radio warnings and scanning newspaper headlines, prepared to return to the resort at a moment's notice.

Mary Ann and Dotsy and their children have been at

MRS. WILLIAM D. ORTHWEIN'S summer home at Narragansett since early July. Mrs. Orthwein remained with them until mid-July and Bill Orthwein and -CHARLIE BATES joined them there early in this month for a twoweek holiday.

Before returning to Tulsa, Okla, where the Orthweins have lived for the last few years, Bill had a few days of business here and Mary Ann and Dotsy decided to join him for a bit of New York shopping and entertainment. Dinner at 21 and dancing at the St. Regis roof were on the agenda at last check and Dotsy planned to make a quick trip to Nantucket to see GINNY (MRS, JOHN R.) GARD-NER before returning to Narragansett on Thursday. The young women and their children will be at the resort until late in the month.

St. Louis Group in East

AST Monday Mary Ann and Dotsy joined MRS. HAMP-DEN M. SWIFT for a shopping safari, with stops all along Fifth avenue. Peggy Muckerman Swift and her husband, "Ham," spent several days at the Carlton House after attending the golf tournament at Watch Hill last weekend. They returned to St. Louis by plane late in the week to complete preparations for their move to Chicago next-month.

The St. Regis attracted several St. Louisans last week, among them MRS. JOHN A. HOLMES and MRS. PRINCE A. GARD-NER and her daughter, ANNETTE. MARY LEE HOLMES and MRS. AR-THUR B. SHEPLEY JR.

Mary Lee spent a short week here before returning to

St. Louis, Her brother, Campbell Smidt, came up from Washington to join her for most of that time and on Monday evening they were in the "Damn Yankees" audience for one of its delightful and lively performances.

Mrs. Gardner With Relatives at Rye

M RS. GARDNER arrived here by plane last Friday and went directly to Rye to spend three days with her ther-in-law and sister, MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM A. BUTLER. Sunday evening she came into town and met for a visit at the Greenbrian.

Annette, who had spent the weekend with friends at Quogue, L.I. A leather show, seeing New York friends and tickets for such plays as "Boy Friend." illed Mrs. Gardner's schedule until she returned home on Friday.

Another Gardner daugh ter. GLORIA WILKER-SON, and her husband, HUGH, are due to arrive here sometime this week. They left their home in New Orleans last week

MISS GARDNER . . . GUEST AT ST. REGIS. and are motoring to New York via Ponte Vedra and Charleston. They will spend a few days here and then go to Newport where Hugh is scheduled to take a two-week refresher course. On their return trip they will again stop over in New York and then

Martha Carr's OPINION=

Dear Martha:

HAVE been married 14 years and in all that time I have only been able to go home to see my parents twice. Once, my husband was on a fishing trip so he said I could go home. The other time I simply fought so hard that he finally gave in. But he doesn't like it. He says we can't afford the train fare. Now, Martha, my mother is desperately ill and I feel that I have to go but my husband says she's just trying to get my sympathy and that he doesn't think she's really ill. He got mad at me the other night and yelled that if I went I didn't need to come back. I love 'my husband and don't want to lose him, but I love my parents too. Please, oh please, what can I do? WEARY.

What kind of a self-styled jailer is this, anyway, that you're married to? Of course, you ought to be with your mother if she's critically ill. Maybe, to let him know how it feels to be brow-beaten, you should just put your foot down and refuse your permission for him to go on one of his fishing trips or down to the corner for a beer. I think it's about time that you tried to put your marriage on the basis of a partnership, not of a master and slave. Fourteen years is a long time to be bossed by someone who is supposed to love and respect you, but it may not be too late, with professional counseling, to make him see how wrong he is. Meanwhile, you'll have to use your own judgment as to whether to go or not, in view of his threat, but I'm afraid that the more you cowtow to him, the stronger the chains will become.

Dear Martha: I AM 22 AND IN LOVE with two boys. They both want me to marry them and I can't decide which one to accept. One is steady, serious and dependable. The other is betterlooking, has a better personality and a better job. I thought I liked him best, but then I found out that he had been in trouble in the town where he lived before he came to St. Louis. So now, Martha, I'm all mixed up. Please tell me the answer to my problem. HARRIET.

Two men asking you to marry them-and you have a problem? Seriously, though, I don't think you're in love with either of them, if you can't make up your mind. However, you can count out Handsome Harry if he has a black apot on his character. And I don't think you should rush toward the other one for the time being. Keep on dating him, if you wish, but put those ideas of marriage out of your head until you don't have to ask someone else to make up your mind as to your favorite.

The family has many good friends because this wife and mother has never been too busy to take time to keep in touch with other people. It is she who writes the letters, makes the telephones calls, lends a helping hand, plans a party, visits the sick, etc.

This woman is the very center of a family, offering encouragement, sympathy, help, and understanding.

And yet she thinks she has no particular talents. Why? Isn't it because we put too much emphasis today on the talents that make news, that bring in money, that are in some way spectacular and not enough on the talents that mean so much to a family, the talents that make a woman

When your skin feels tight, looks drawn, and is "flaky," then you have dry skin and you are acutely aware of it. Lines and wrinkles show up and After Forty certain natural elements in the skin are lost. As they lubricated the skin, you must now do all possible to restore the effect of lubrication to the skin.

From my experience and my experiments I find that cosmetic oil will do more for the After Forty skin than any other type of beauty preparation.

B^E as smart as the most chic in Paris, with this latest number from famous French coutourier Charles Montaigno. coutourier Charles Montaigno. This two piece dress has a mid-riff and band on the bodice that is cut in one piece. The designer made it criginally in corduroy, but it is also good in linen, length striped novelty cottons, light weight tweeds, faille. It makes an ideal outfit for the office or heads of the condition of the condi fice or back to college-depend-ing on fabric chosen.

This pattern is cut to Designer Measurements, not Standard Pat-tern Measurements.

HARKS have the worst name among the fish of the ocean, but many other dangerous fish exist. The others include some which fight with sharks.

Swordfish may match small sharks, but big sharks usually make short work of them. The savage Atlantic mako sharks seldom grow to a length of more than 11 feet, but they often make meals of swordfish. In one case an entire swordfish was found inside an Atlantic mako. That shark must have suffered from a stomach-ache!

found inside an Atlantic make. That shark must have suffered from a stomach-ache!

Other objects found inside the stomachs of sharks include tin cans, pieces of iron and bags of food. One shark swallowed a sack of coal, and another gobbled down a crate containing eight bottles! These fish often follow ocean vessels (especially those which travel at moderate speed) to feed on garbage which kitchen workers drop overboard. That explains some of the strange objects—including the heads of cows—which have been found inside sharks.

Tiger sharks and white sharks grow to be larger than make sharks. A large tiger shark may be 17 or 18 feet long, or even more.

White sharks often pass the 15-foot mark. One white shark 21 feet long was found to have
